

ABSTRACT

[0040] A method and apparatus for adjusting capacitance of an on-chip capacitor uses exposure of a dielectric material of the capacitor to an ion beam comprising ions of at least one material to modify a dielectric constant of the dielectric material.